

Cookie Policy

This document was last updated on 12th November 2019. The Digital Capital website is operated by Digital Capital Ltd.

Contents

1. What are cookies?
2. Our cookies and what they do for you?
3. Managing cookies
4. Third party links
5. For more information

1. What are cookies?

The Digital Capital website is provided by Digital Capital Ltd (“Digital”, “us”, “our” or “we”) a UK based Electronic Money Institution authorised (reference number 900710) by the UK’s Financial Conduct Authority (FCA). Our website uses cookies to distinguish you from other users of our website. This helps us to provide you with a good experience when you browse our website and also allows us to improve our site.

Cookies are small text files which are downloaded to your device when you visit a website or application. The website or application may retrieve these cookies from your web browser each time you visit, so they can recognise you, remember your preferences and provide you with a more secure or improved online experience. They do not contain or save any sensitive information about you:

- They don’t store your name
- They don’t store your address
- They don’t store any payment details
- You will not receive any calls or mail as a result of a cookie

By continuing to use our website, you are agreeing to use our cookies; alternatively, you can manage them in your browser setting (see Managing Cookies). If you decide to disable them, then you may not be able to access many of the features within our website and access areas like your account.

2. Our cookies and what they do for you?

When you use our website, the following four types of cookie may be set on your device:

Type of cookie	Description
Essential cookies	Our website won’t work properly without these cookies. They help you to move around the secure areas of the site e.g. logging in.

Cookies for website information	These cookies collect anonymous information about how visitors use our site. Solely used to improve the experience.
Cookies for saving your settings	These cookies remember details inputted by you so you don't have to repeat the action e.g. filling a form, permissions etc.
Cookies for targeting	When you visit the site, these cookies will recognise which parts of the website are interesting to you and to show you pages and adverts we think you'll like.

This cookie list is kept up-to-date as possible.

3. Managing cookies

Your chosen browser will offer cookie management options within their tools. You can set the browser to accept cookies only from specific websites (e.g. this website). More importantly, browsers can also enable you to delete specific cookies. It is even possible to set a browser to reject all cookies. Please be aware that if you choose to block all cookies, our site will not function as intended and you will not be able to use or access many of the services we provide. Rather than blocking all cookies, you can choose to only block third-party cookies which will still allow our website to function as intended.

4. Third party links

As you browse our website you may click on third party links. Digital Capital is not responsible for the content or privacy policies of any linked websites. You should check the individual privacy policies accordingly. We will be happy to clarify any information we hold on you, if you make a formal written request. You can then check, update or delete your details accordingly.

5. For more information

You can learn more about the use of cookies by visiting: www.aboutcookies.org